BATTLESHIP BARGE CAPSIZED

Saturday Night While Being Towed to the Vessel in Hudson River

29 MEN OF THE NEW HAMPSHIRE LOST

-None of the Bodies Had Been Recovered Up to Sunday Night-It is Believed the Barge was Upset by the Heavy Swell of a Passing Steamboat.

New York, Oct. 2.—There was issued second class, Bloomingdale, N. Y.; J. from the battleship New Hampshire tonight a list of 29 men who are supposed to have perished by the swamping by a barge or whaleboat which was being towed to the vessel at anchor in the Hudson river last night. Appended to the list are the names of eighteen men who are still absent, but who are not renembered as having been in the swamped boat.

List of Missing Men.

Capt. Thomas S. Rodgers, in command of the New Hampshire, gave out the list with this brief introduction:

"The following is the list of the men missing from yesterday's liberty party who are thought to have been in the boat that was swamped last night."

The list follows:

Bodies. New York, Oct. 2.—All day long to-day police boats dotted the sove in the river above 157th street, their crews grappling for bodies. But their efforts were without success, not one body being recovered. Old rivermen who are well acquainted with the treach-erous tides in the Hudson, said they were not surprised, for when the acci-dent occurred the tide was running up stream like a mili race with a brisk wind from the southwest behind it. This would take the bodies far beyond the scene of the diseaster and prob-ably it will be several days before any Crowds Gather Along Waterfront. Along the waterfront in the vicinity of the accident, crowds gathered to-day, eagerly seeking information. Many weeping or anxious women were among them. They were looking for news of relatives or friends who had along the water leave and should have renews of relatives or friends who had had shore leave and should have reported on the New Hampshire yesterday evening. The midshipmen on the landing float were courteous in answering questions, but when it came to the point of giving news they referred everyone to the officer of the deck on board the battleship.

Cause of the Accident.

Various versions of how the accident Various versions of how the accident occurred were in circulation today. The generally accepted one, however, was that the barge, heavily loaded with sallors and marines returning from shore leave, was towed into the heavy swells of a passing steamboat. Rising for a moment, the barge plunged into the trough and was swamped.

Sharp Calls for Assistance. Instantly the choppy water became dotted with struggling, shouting men, intermingled with floating packages, suiteases and personal belongings, that the men-o'-warsmen were taking back to the ship. The whistle of the little steam launch which was towing the barge rent the air with sharp staccato calls for assistance.

Many Sailors and Marines Picked Up. Few boats were in the vicinity, however, for the river was running in or the boat, follow:

Has His Liver Ruptured. Middletown, Conn., Oct. 2 .- It was stated at the Middlesex hospital to-night that William J. Schaefer, the 14 years old high school freshman, who was injured during the annual keg rush with the sophomores Friday afternoon, could not live.

Schaefer, who is large for his age, was in the middle of the sorap around the keg and was knocked down and robably stepped on. It was at first rought that he was winded, but on being examined by a physician, it was seen that his injuries were serious and he was taken to the hospital, where an operation was performed which dis-closed that his liver was ruptured, with signs of other internal injuries. continued to grow worse after the operation and tonight his death is ex-

EXPLORER AMUNDSEN

CHANGES HIS PLANS Decides to Proceed on an Antarctic Expedition.

Christiana, Oct. 2.—According to a letter received here from Capt. Roald Amundsen, on board the Fram at Ma-deira, Amundsen has decided to pro-ceed on an Antarctic expedition. He promises to send details when he ar-rives at Punta Arenas. This change in plans has occasioned surprise, for it was the original intention of Amundsen to start early next year on a drifting voyage for the North pole. The Fram was first to go to San Fran-cisco, where she was to be fitted out, and it was calculated that the drift through the polar ice would occupy not less than seven years.
